He will find, where available, census details (family, address, occupation, etc), birth, baptism, marriage and death information and provide copies.

Career MOT

We have to give our cars an MoT when they're over three years old and we're advised to have periodic health checks. But when did we last give our careers an MoT check? Over a 90 minute, confidential conversation, I offer someone the opportunity to take stock of their career to date and consider the future.

We can explore what's going well in their work and ask how they can build on these areas. We may also discuss where they are less satisfied and why this may be. Other questions we might look into could include:

- some of the trends in their career to date - highs and lows - and contributing factors
- their transferable skills, interests and values
- their future options
